Sewall-Belmont House and Museum Announces February Events

Museum Tour: Susan B. Anthony, Fiery Feminist

When: Wednesday, February 15, tours on the hour 11:00 AM – 6:00 PM (last tour at 5:00 PM)
Where: The Sewall-Belmont House and Museum, 144 Constitution Avenue, NE
Metro: Union Station (Red line) or Capitol South (Orange and Blue lines)
Cost: $5.00 suggested donation

Delve into the fascinating life of one of America's greatest (and most provocative) politicians, Susan B. Anthony, on the anniversary of her 185th birthday. During this tour of the National Woman's Party collection, learn about the abolitionist, suffragist, and woman's rights advocate for whom the 19th Amendment is named.

Fiery Feminist is held in conjunction with Cultural Tourism DC's citywide promotion Warm Up to a Museum, Saturday, February 4 - Sunday, February 19, 2006. Check your winter blues at the door - Washington hotspots have teamed up to offer a wide range of exhibits, performances, lectures, and beverages designed to warm body and soul around Valentine's Day.

Family Day at Sewall-Belmont House and Museum

When: Sunday, February 26, 2006, 1:00 - 3:00 PM
Where: The Sewall-Belmont House and Museum, 144 Constitution Avenue, NE
Who: Open to children ages 5+ and their families
Metro: Union Station (Red line) or Capitol South (Orange and Blue lines)
Cost: Free
RSVP: becki.fogerty@sewallbelmont.org or 202.546.1210 ext.17

Celebrate Black History Month at the Sewall-Belmont House and Museum with a re-launch of our publication, Black Women in America: Contributors to our Heritage, and an afternoon of women's history. Hear the inspiring words of Sojourner Truth, portrayed by actress Cheryl Collins, and learn about black women's suffrage organizations from Dr. Lisa Hill.

About Sewall-Belmont House and Museum

The Sewall-Belmont House and Museum, on Capitol Hill in Washington, DC, celebrates women's progress toward equality—and explores the evolving role of women and their contributions to society—through educational programs, tours, exhibits, research and publications.

The historic National Woman's Party (NWP), a leader in the campaign for equal rights and women's suffrage, owns, maintains and interprets the Sewall-Belmont House and Museum. One of the premier women's history sites in the country, this National Historic Landmark houses an extensive collection of suffrage banners, archives and artifacts documenting the continuing effort by women and men of all races, religions and backgrounds to win voting rights and equality for women under the law.

The Sewall-Belmont House and Museum and the National Woman's Party are committed to preserving NWP founder Alice Paul's legacy--the achievement of women's equal rights--and telling the untold stories for the benefit of scholars, current and future generations of Americans, and all the world's citizens.
